Note from the Pastor

Mary Queen of Heaven Education Endowment

Today we celebrate the beginning of Catholic Schools Week. That's nice, but we don't have a Catholic School. Oh, yes we do! Our preschool is a Chartered Catholic School of the Diocese of Joliet. It is not a private school; it is a parochial school. And parochial education is a pretty wonderful thing. Here a bounded little world is created where our children can be safe, learn the wonderful traditions of our Church and the ways of the world. We have a great little preschool.

Of all the Catholic Church's institutions, our schools, especially in this country, have been a magnificent agents of change and acculturation. Our Irish, German, Polish, Italian and more recently, Asian and South American immigrants all came to this country looking for the same thing: a better life. A better life not only for themselves but for their children. America truly is the land of opportunity.

When my grandparents came to this country at the turn of the 20th Century, they came with nothing. Not speaking the language or having any contacts, they settled into little Italian ghettos and then continued with many of the ways of the Old World. As a very small boy I can still remember the fruit peddlers, the knife sharpeners and in the summer, the old Italian who would yell, "Water... meloon." My mother would wave from the third floor window of our tenement building and he would pick a watermelon up, bring it upstairs and cut out a wedge. If it looked good and sweet, she gave him a dollar and we kids were in hog heaven. Those were the old ways.

The mainstay of the early immigrant community was the Church. In Chicago, no one asked you what street you lived on, they asked what church you went to. And if you were Irish, you went to St. Bridget, Polish you went to St. Stanislaus and we Italian's went to Mother Cabrini. Fr. Cogo would give a bilingual (Italian/English) homily every Sunday. And the children, the children went to the Catholic school.

For the children of immigrants, a Catholic education was indispensable. My mother's parents were basically illiterate but they saw to it that their children went to St. Charles Borromeo grade school. When my uncle Louis started school, he spoke not a word of English but the BVM sisters sought to it that he would soon not only be speaking the language, but reading and writing in it. By the time my mother came along, there was no question that she would be going to the Catholic school as well. From the 20's to the 60's the stories of Catholic parochial education are legend. Everybody in the neighborhood went. Class sizes were sometimes 60 kids in a room with one nun. And they learned! The miracle was that these kids were taken out of an environment stuck in the ways of the Old World and taught not only how to live but to thrive in the new world. This is the legacy and the gift of the incredible women who filled the convents so as to educate the children in the ways of the world and most importantly, in the ways of the Lord.

While we all received what was called a parochial education, we were being prepared to enter into the larger world, to speak the language of the W.A.S.P.s and to take our place in mainstream society. And indeed we did. The sign that the immigrant Catholics had arrived was the election of John Fitzgerald Kennedy in 1960. In three short generations we went from illiterate immigrants to captains of corporations, the power brokers of politics and even the presidency. In large part, that was accomplished with the genius of the Catholic school system.

Today we celebrate Catholic Schools Week. We salute our precious preschool and all our teachers and parents but most of all, our little ones who are following the tradition of being in a very safe environment, learning how to get along with each other and being immersed in their wonderful Catholic tradition. We also look outside of our parochial boundaries to the school we have adopted, Holy Family School in Bensenville. Holy Family is doing so wonderfully what Catholic schools do best. They are taking the children of new immigrants and saying to them, you belong here. This is home. And this is how we act and learn at home. With the wonderful mixture of those who have been here for generations and the newly immigrated children, Holy Family School is truly catholic (universal). How can we not but help support that kind of holy endeavor?

How? By making sure that funds for continuing Catholic education will be there in the future. Not only for the children outside our boundaries, but for our own children, our own preschool and religious education classes. And how do we do that?

Last month I received an anonymous email from one of our parishioners. He wished to make a very substantial gift to our parish and he wanted to do it for something most worthwhile. He said he would donate $15,000 and asked if we could challenge other parishioners, at least 15, to come up with $1,000 a piece for something most worthwhile. He made me an offer I couldn't refuse. After a lot of thought and prayer, I decided that the very best place to put these new found funds was in an education endowment. Both the Parish Council and Finance Commission agreed. Therefore, I announce today the formation of the brand new Mary Queen Heaven Education Endowment.

It is an endowment that is held with the diocese, but it is ours. The monies will be invested in various types of financial instruments and the principle will never be able to be touched. What the Parish will be able to use for education in the future is the interest. This means whatever we give now will keep on giving as long as Mary Queen remains a parish. We will be able to use the interest from the endowment for any educational need. We can use it to help with tuition for religious education, or for parents who may be in need in our preschool. We can use it for educational needs beyond our parish boundaries such as the Holy Family School. We can even use it, should we decide in the future, to help educate young women in Africa or other third-world countries. As long as it's for education, we can use it. But first we have to raise it. Hence the Education Endowment Fund.

This will be the third education endowment that I have started. The first one I did was at St. Therese in Kankakee. We raised over $1,000,000 and presently the interest from the endowment has educated many wonderful children who would never have seen the inside of a Catholic school without it. I also started one at St. Isidore in Bloomingdale. And now, it's Mary Queen's turn. Already two parishioners gave our parish very substantial gifts at Christmas time. They asked me to use their donation for something good.

With their permission I would like to take half of what each gave and put it into the endowment.

So now it's your turn. Would you like to be part of this holy endeavor? If the Marines want a few good men (and women), so do we. If you find yourself in the position to participate, I believe there is no better place to put your money. It is a true win/win proposition.

Today we begin Catholic Schools Week. Last Sunday on the front page of the Tribune, there was an article about trying to save the Catholic schools in the city of Chicago. Well done! We are called to do the same.

In Jesus, Our Pedagogue,

Fr. Tony

Parish News

Rest In Peace Dennis and Patrick White

Every once in a while a parishioner becomes so identified with our wonderful parish that it not only becomes their home but their primary community. This is exactly what happened to the Brothers White: Patrick and Dennis.

Patrick was very involved with the Christ Renews His Parish community and Dennis with the choir. Both brothers, however, inherited their father's dread disease, A.L.S. Patrick passed from it several months ago and Dennis last Tuesday. Dennis was removed from the ventilator keeping him alive. Both passed most peacefully.

Because they were both ours almost exclusively, we will be celebrating their lives at the 10:30 a.m. Mass next Sunday, February 3rd. We will have our full choir and CRHP community present. Their lives of faith touched our lives of faith. We must celebrate their faith.

Dennis loved ice cream. In his honor we will have a short ice cream social in Mary's Gathering Space after Mass. This will be followed by Dr. Scott Alexander's presentation on Muslim-Christian relations. The whole parish family is invited.

CRHP - DO YOU BELIEVE IN MIRACLES?

Yes, miracles can still happen. Many transformations and "aha" moments have happened on the CRHP weekend. Visit the Mary Queen website for a fantastic video about what CRHP is and what it can do for you at www.maryqueen.org. Just click on the link on the homepage to watch this powerful video.

Testimonies:

When I relate my CRHP experience, the word commitment comes to mind. I have felt this quality as both a receiving participant and giving participant. This commitment has been an important aspect, the very core of what CRHP is. There has been the commitment to myself, the team, and most importantly to God. Commitment does not come without a price. Risk and vulnerability are the demands, but the benefits of joy and peace of mind far outweigh. The end result has been a stronger commitment to my faith. Ken Sutkus

I am such an improved person/human being after experiencing my first CRHP weekend. It warms your heart, opens your eyes, calms your soul and helps the Holy Spirit guide you in being a disciple of God. Carol Gliatis

Please don't miss out - sign-up now (February 9-10 for the men and February 23-24 for the women). Questions? - contact Gregg Olalde, men's lay director at (312) 961-9442 or Donna Glick, women's lay director at (630) 303-1922.

AMERICAN MUSLIMS:

LET US DISCOVER COMMON GROUND

Mary Queen of Heaven Parish has invited Dr. Scott Alexander, Ph.D. (Associate Professor of Islamic Studies at the Catholic Theological Union) to discuss the lives of American Muslims and help provide insight to the Christian Community of common ground that exists between both faiths. Please join us for this opportunity to learn more about this important non-Christian religion and the experiences of many of our Muslim neighbors on February 3, 2013 at 11:45 a.m. in Barrett Hall.

EUCCHARISTIC ADORATION

On January 28, we celebrate the feast day of St. Thomas Aquinas, who wrote three of the most beautiful Catholic hymns in honor of the Holy Eucharist, O Salutaris Hostia, Tantum Ergo Sacramentum and Panis Angelicus, all of which are still sung today. On Monday, February 4, we will again join in singing two of these hymns as we celebrate Jesus' Eucharistic presence during our day of Eucharistic Adoration. It begins after 8:30 a.m. Mass, and ends with Benediction at 7:00 p.m. All are invited to join us any time during the day, as well as for Benediction. We welcome people to "adopt" any hour of the day. If you are interested, or have any questions, please contact Kay Diggins at (630) 530-7214, or Rose Wilkes at (630) 833-7238.
