I HAVE A DREAM - SOWING A SEED FROM THE MUSICIAN'S CORNER

As the Music Director I choose the hymns and service music for the parish. And just as the "Tradition of the apostolic faith (is) a patrimony both ancient and new, * so we have a musical patrimony in the Catholic Church both ancient and new.

Our recent service music (sung parts of the Mass) is new music as a result of the changes in the text of the Mass (Gloria, Holy, Holy, Memorial Acclamations). But we still make use of ancient chant (Priest's prayers and our responses, alleluias and their gospel verses, and psalm verses), whose use dates back to the time of Christ.

With our hymns we have a patrimony both ancient and new. We sing chant-based tunes such as "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel" during Advent, and "Pange Lingua" on Holy Thursday, whose Tantum ergo text dates back to the 13th Century. We sing hymns from the last few centuries such as "Amazing Grace" and "O Come All Ye Faithful." And we sing more contemporary hymns such as "Gather Us In," "Here I Am, Lord," and "Seed, Scattered and Sown."

Recently, a few parishioners told me they did not care for one of the hymns we were singing that particular Sunday. At first I thought of all the hymns that I don't particularly care for, but still remain in our repertoire. This is because the text serves a particular liturgical season, or it reflects the readings for a particular Sunday, or it helps the wise pastoral musician preserve a balance between the ancient and the new while giving our congregation a fuller appreciation of the richness of our Church's musical treasure.

Upon reflection though, this complaint brought to mind Martin Luther King's "I have a dream" speech: "...when all God's children, black men and white men, Jews and Gentiles, Protestants and Catholics, will be able to join hands and sing in the words of the old Negro spiritual: Free are last! Free at last! Thank God Almighty, we are free at last!"

But then I thought...what if I don't like this hymn that Martin Luther King suggested? Would I refuse to sing with all of God's children because this hymn did not satisfy my particular musical taste?

What!...destroy Martin Luther King's dream!? NO! Of course not. I would sing the hymn because there is a value in singing praise to God just for the sake of praising God. When we sing one of those hymns we don't like, we show charity toward those who have a different musical taste from our own. And when many voices are unified in song, the result can be exhilarating, even transcendent, making us forget our own voice as it blends in with the whole. Recall St. Augustine's oft-repeated maxim: "He who sings well, prays twice."

Generally, I can understand some people's reticence to sing at Mass. Presently, congregational singing is not part of our Catholic culture as it is in Protestant precincts. Singing exposes more of our "self" to others than simple oral responses. While our spoken responses at Mass are important, singing requires a little more physical effort than speaking, so we make a more total commitment to praising God when we sing. Should we think our voices are not "good enough," singing helps us to set our vanity aside for God's sake. At Mass we unite ourselves with Christ's sacrifice; our focus is on him not ourselves. Fortunately, God judges us by what is in our hearts, and not the beauty of our voices.

The Church tells us that the purpose of sacred music, "is the glory of God and the sanctification of the faithful." The Mass, which re-presents for us the sacrifice of Christ at Calvary, requires our "full, conscious and active participation." If I were offered a million dollars to sing at Mass I would certainly do so, regardless of the effort it took or the fear I would have to overcome. But should not giving glory to God be enough reason for me to sing his praise?

Ed Nowak, Music Director

Religious Education News

A few weeks ago RE families were encouraged to make a poster highlighting the good things at MQH in hopes of inviting others, especially those Catholics who have been away, to come and experience the presence of Christ. The theme is "We are not the same without you!" Hopefully these family posters will be up in the storefront windows soon. The posters will be on display in Mary's Gathering Space this weekend for our viewing.

Thanksgiving Food Drive: This year the MQH food drive will be held on the weekend of November 15-16. In the past, each grade level brought a specific food and non food items. These items are sorely needed but rarely donated. We are asking the following grade levels to bring in these items:

- Grade 1: Peanut Butter, Jelly or Juice boxes/bottles
- Grade 2: Cleaning supplies
- Grade 3: Hand Soap
- Grade 4: Paper Towels
- Grade 5: Laundry Detergent
- Grade 6: Facial Tissue
- Grade 7: Diapers
- Confirmation Prep.: Any of the above items

Confirmation Parent-Candidate-Sponsor Meeting: There is a mandatory meeting on Wednesday, November 12 at 6:45pm in the church for the parents, the candidate, and the sponsor.

RE Children and Confirmation Prep Service Opportunity: Generous hearts and helpful hands are needed to help sort and assemble Thanksgiving baskets for families in need. Families are invited to come, and Confirmation Candidates are invited with their sponsors to share their time to make Thanksgiving for those in need a reason to celebrate God's gifts. Come to help on Monday, November 19 at 6:30pm.

RE is in desperate need of three catechist aids to help in the classrooms at 3:15-4:30 pm session on Wednesdays. If you are able, please consider interacting with the catechists and children in this important and rewarding ministry.

HAVE AN INTEREST IN VIDEO AND AUDIO RECORDING MQH EVENTS?

We are looking for a few people who are interested in learning how to do one or both of the following:

- ◆ Record the homily every week (Use MQH equipment and set up the recorder during Mass. Transfer the file for posting.) This is about a one hour commitment each week.
- ◆ Learn how to use a MQH camcorder to record church events and also how to edit the video for posting on MQH website and Facebook page. It is up to you as to which events you want to record.

It's a great opportunity to help showcase the many activities of our parish and to learn some new skills along the way.

If you are interested, contact Toni Nessi at tnessi@comcast.net or (630) 936-9082
